

STRATHCLYDE, "CAVERSHAM"

 Saint Michael, Barbados

‘Caversham’ is another example of our traditional architectural and building styles adapting readily to modern updates. When maintained, these properties located in the original prime locations of Barbados retain and build their value over time.

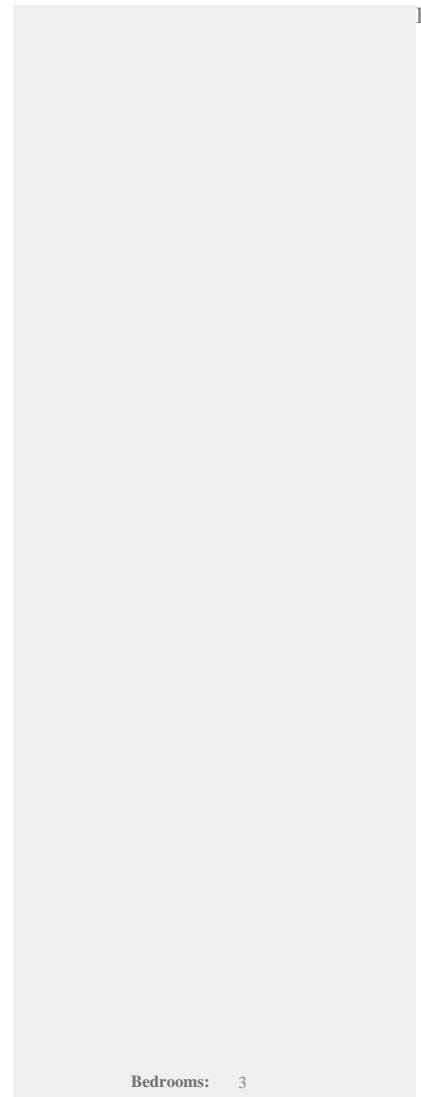

While the exterior maintains the traditional Barbadian style for the period, considerable renovation went into the interior of this three-bedroom, two-bathroom home, creating a great balance. Starting with the large, modern kitchen there is a distinct transition into the more traditional dining and living rooms. Beyond, the verandah provides a view of the gardens and lets the home take in the cooling breeze. The three air-conditioned bedrooms have also all been renovated. The master suite opens directly to the lush garden, steps away from the gazebo.

Location is always key with any real estate investment, and additional value comes with the attached one-bedroom and studio apartments. These two units have a proven revenue earning record as both long term and short-term rentals.

Strathclyde has been considered one of the highly desirable neighborhoods in Barbados since the late 1800s and consists of homes built in a comparable size and style. Despite its proximity to Bridgetown, Strathclyde has maintained its residential character, one would not imagine the city is less than a kilometer away.
